

28 Days to Thanksgiving: Offering Our Gratitude

Sermon Videos

Use the links that follow to access the sermon videos on the YouTube playlist Stewardship Sermon Videos. Unless the Internet speed and bandwidth in your worship space is strong and fast, we recommend that you download each video for your use.

The sermons in this series were written by the Rev. Dr. Kathleen James-Cavan.

28 Days of Thanksgiving sermons – Week 1: Spiritual Aerobics

- This week, you are invited to think about and share your experience of gratitude, focusing on music. How is your experience around music and gratitude limited? Can you instead imagine offering gratitude, with music, in ways that are abundant and overflowing?

28 Days of Thanksgiving sermons – Week 2: Wordless Thanks

- This week, you are invited to think about and share your experience of gratitude, focusing on silence. How is your experience around silence and gratitude limited? Can you instead imagine offering gratitude, with silence, in ways that are abundant and overflowing?

28 Days of Thanksgiving sermons – Week 3: Enough

- This week, you are invited to think about and share your experience of gratitude, focusing on food. How is your experience around food and gratitude limited? Can you instead imagine offering gratitude, with food, in ways that are abundant and overflowing?

28 Days of Thanksgiving sermons – Week 4: The Dying Elephant in the Temple

- This week, you are invited to think about and share your experience of gratitude, focusing on creation. How is your experience around creation and gratitude limited? Can you instead imagine offering gratitude, with all of creation, in ways that are abundant and overflowing?

28 Days of Thanksgiving sermons – Week 5: The Great Dinner Party

- This week is dedicated to integrating elements of the previous four themes in an offering of gratitude, recognizing the abundance of the harvest, the gifts of creation, and the contribution of our human labour inspired by God's guidance and grace.

